Some bridges are built to span a river. Some to reach across mountains. At Community First Fund, we build bridges that help raise people up.

Not bridges built with concrete and steel, but bridges that connect our neighbors in impoverished areas to resources and ongoing support.

We build our bridges on five pillars, each bringing a core necessity to populations in our urban landscape. We want to connect with those who can't obtain traditional funding. Embrace them. And build bridges that bring opportunity, hope and prosperity. Bridges that create a path to sustainable, vibrant communities.

We realize that our communities face many challenges. But with funding for these five pillars - economic security, affordable housing, food resources, accessible healthcare and educational opportunities - Community First Fund is building bridges to vibrant and healthy communities. To communities reborn!
Message from the Chair and CEO

BUILDING BRIDGES THAT RAISE PEOPLE UP

Dear Friends:

We are pleased to present Community First Fund’s 2018 Annual Report, highlighting another year of continued growth and building bridges to vibrant communities in central and eastern Pennsylvania. This year we reached the highest lending activity in our history at over $20 million, along with an additional $26.75 million in New Markets Tax Credit projects financed. This capital assisted new and expanding businesses, allowed for the development of new housing, healthy food markets and educational opportunities, and supported community service organizations that enhance the quality of life in our communities. Additionally, our financing leveraged another $59.5 million in public and private funds into our region.

Over the past year we continued our focus on closing the gap between those with access to financial resources and those who continue to face institutional barriers to success. In FY 2018, eighty-eight percent (88%) of loans benefited low wealth communities and people, including People of Color and women. Loans and investments we financed created and retained 965 permanent jobs, 291 temporary construction jobs, 889 childcare opportunities, 260 units of affordable housing, and developed nearly 415,000 square feet of commercial real estate.

In this report you will see the faces and read the stories of five clients who, with help from Community First Fund and through their own hard work and dedication, have seized opportunity and created success. They, too, are bridge builders. Their achievements strengthen our resolve to remove barriers and create economic opportunity for individuals and organizations in our region. We are grateful for the support you have provided over the past years and thank you for making it possible for us to further our commitment to transforming lives and communities.

ECONOMIC SECURITY

Our funding is a bridge that helps businesses in underserved communities initiate and grow, creating important job opportunities. Budding entrepreneurs can obtain financing to live out their dream of owning a business. As financial literacy increases, individuals and families realize economic stability.

Juanita Edrington-Grant began building bridges over 15 years ago when she founded Christian Recovery Aftercare Ministry, Inc. (CRAM). A non-profit organization headquartered in Harrisburg, CRAM provides pre-release and re-entry services to ex-offenders and their families. In 2015, Juanita approached Community First Fund for help with financing the purchase of a former healthcare center. Her vision was to transform the property into a community center that could provide multiple services under one roof. In 2018, that vision became reality with the opening of the Harrisburg Uptown Building (The HUB). Today, The HUB houses CRAM and other non-profit and for-profit service providers that offer employment assistance, work-based training, computer and financial literacy classes, pre-GED tutoring, and legal services to assist ex-offenders facing additional barriers to obtaining housing, employment and other basic needs. These programs are vital in helping re-entrants secure quality employment and achieve economic security, which results in reduced recidivism and safer communities.

Since inception, our financing has resulted in the creation and retention of 8,190 jobs throughout central and eastern Pennsylvania.
CULTIVATING ACCESS TO HEALTHY FOODS

We build bridges by funding entities that fulfill the need for healthy, abundant, culturally appropriate food in communities where it’s needed most. Food-based businesses can find the resources they need to grow. Independent supermarkets, farmer’s markets and bodegas, and meal-serving childcare centers all contribute to solving the problem of hunger in our region.

Adriano Gomez’s experience in the grocery store industry encompasses 30 years of opening and operating over 16 stores, including enterprises in Lancaster and Reading. He recently opened Brother’s Food Max in Plaza Centro on South Duke Street in Lancaster. Community First Fund provided financing for the purchase and installation of equipment for the 9,000 square-foot store. This new full-service supermarket offers a variety of healthy foods, including fresh produce options that fulfill the needs and tastes of his customers. Just as important to the community, the store has created over 40 jobs for local residents.

In our history, we have made 90 loans and investments for more than $12.6 million to bodegas, grocery stores, purveyors of healthy foods at farmer’s markets, and to non-profit organizations offering healthy food options to their clients.
TRANSFORMING UNUSED SPACE INTO AFFORDABLE HOUSING

We build bridges by funding conscientious builders and developers who are providing safe and affordable housing options in areas where there is short supply. Those in need can now find options for single family, multifamily or rental housing. And even home ownership. Modern, mixed-income living spaces bring diverse people together... and community pride grows.

Alan Shuman has built more than just a reputation in the City of Reading. As the CEO of Shuman Development Group, he has been the driving force behind many of the city’s revitalization projects. Several years ago, he set his sights on one of the city’s biggest eyesores, an abandoned factory building located in a northeast Reading neighborhood. Backed by a New Markets Tax Credit allocation from Community First Fund, Alan and his team converted the blighted property into what is now known as Big Mill Apartments. This mixed-use complex features 69 affordable one and two bedroom apartment units and features amenities such as on-site laundry facilities, an elevator, advanced security system, parking, and easy access to a local full-service grocery store and other retail establishments. Additionally, 42,000 square feet of commercial space on the first floor is slated to hold a restaurant and daycare center for children with special needs.

In our history, we have financed projects that have created over 1,700 housing units, both market-rate and affordable-rate, in the region we serve.
PROVIDING THE FOUNDATION FOR ACADEMIC SUCCESS

Newly created charter schools are creating enhanced opportunities for education through our funding and childcare centers have expanded to provide Early Childhood Education to those in their care. Vocational training and college prep programs enhance workforce development. We’re building bridges through quality education that brings the opportunity for advancement and prosperity.

Easton Arts Academy Elementary Charter School launched in September 2017 in downtown Easton. This unique school, serving grades K-5, provides varied experiences in music, theatre, dance, visual arts and gymnastics to produce academically well-rounded students. With tuition-free enrollment for over 425 children, the school draws students from 15 surrounding school districts and reached capacity at the start of the 2018 school year. Community First Fund provided financing for the school to open with new furniture, fixtures, and equipment and additional working capital to cover startup costs. Besides offering an excellent early childhood education experience, Easton Arts Academy occupies a renovated historic building in downtown Easton and provides 60 living-wage jobs with full benefits.

Over the past twenty-six years, Community First Fund has financed 4,526 educational opportunities for students in various settings and programs.
ENSURING ACCESS TO QUALITY HEALTHCARE

Through the financing we provide, we’ve built bridges so the people in our communities are finding greater access to affordable health care. Caring doctors and dentists work in urban clinics and private practice to serve those most in need. Home health and assisted living agencies are treating people right where they live. Neighborhood pharmacies make available much needed medications and medical supplies. Healthy people bring the vitality that energizes communities.

Dr. Mark Fabey, owner of Fabey Dental Studios in Easton, has built his practice based on hard work and commitment to his clients and community. In 2016, Dr. Fabey approached Community First Fund for capital to add 6 new operatories, purchase new state-of-the-art equipment and hire 14 additional staff. The expansion of this full-service dental studio has increased capacity to treat over 100 new patients a month. Aware that many in the area cannot access affordable dental care, Dr. Fabey and his team have participated in the Dentistry from the Heart program, which provides free dental service to veterans, homeless and low-income individuals. Plans are underway to start their own community service program in the near future.

In our history, we have financed over $4 million in loans and investments to healthcare entities that provide access to mental health, dental, home care, chiropractic, pharmacy, and ambulance services.
